WOOD FOR CONSTRUCTION

We have a real passion for finding the best quality woods available. That is why every piece of wood that arrives at our factory is individually checked and measured for its quality. All our wood is expertly kiln dried and treated with non-harmful chemicals for anti-termite, fungus and mold. This helps to ensure that our products stay beautiful for years to come.

It is the attention and care put in to each step of sourcing our woods and making of our products that make Thaweephan a trusted mark of quality to our customers.

We take great pride in every product that we make and our quality promise continues long after our products are sold. Wood is a natural material that reacts and adjusts to its environment. Our customers take comfort in knowing that should any issues arise, we are there to help.

WOODEN ROOF TILES

THAWEEPHAN

People all over the world have relied on wooden shingle roofing for centuries. Made from species ranging from teak to mixed hardwood, wooden roof tiles—whether smooth 'shingles' or rough-cut 'shakes'—create a distinctive look that complements a wide variety of architectural styles. As well as superb protection from the elements and excellent natural insulation, they are simple to install and relatively environmentally friendly.

The primary benefit of wooden shingles over clay or slate tiles is their low weight. They are quicker and easier to fit and can be used on a standard roof frame without the need for added structural support.

Shingles are also simpler to maintain. Unlike interlocking roof tiles, they can be cut away and replaced with ease, and they aren't brittle or easily cracked.

We offer customized computer-designed wood trusses made from top-quality treated wood. Our trusses are lightweight, durable, strong, quick to install, and economical. We produce our roof truss systems in a controlled environment using state-of-the-art technology.

At Thaweephan, we've worked to minimize waste and maximize efficiency, delivering high-quality trusses to precision specifications. We transport them safely and assemble your roof system on site, quickly and expertly.
