our story ...so far

We began our journey in 1955 as a sawmill and producer of teak and other exotic timbers for the construction industry in Thailand. In the 1970s, we set up our manufacturing facilities in Chiang Mai to meet the growing demand for high quality wood flooring, doors, windows, decking, furniture as well as structural and decorative timber.

Today, we are one of Thailand's leading architectural woodworking companies and manufacturers of finest quality wood products. We work with architects, interior designers, contractors and project owners across hospitality, commercial and residential projects all over Thailand and South East Asia.

Meeting our customer's needs means evolving alongside them. At Thaweephan, we are constantly developing new products and mastering the latest techniques, so that we can continue offering our clients the best possible quality and service.

Our relentless strive for service excellence combined with our attention to detail attracts clients who expect the very best and trust us to bring the beauty of natural wood to their projects.

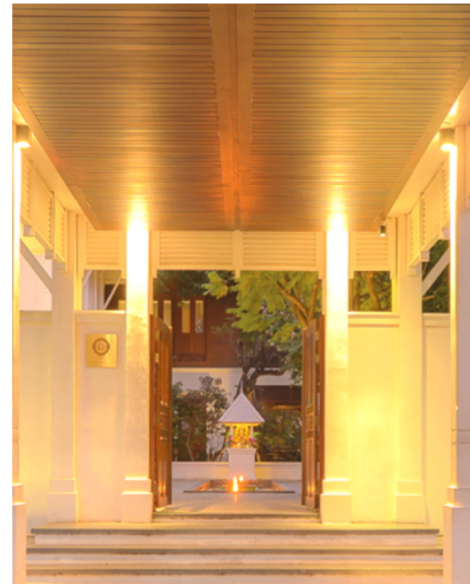

We minimise our environmental impact through sourcing our raw materials from sustainable and responsible sources, eliminating the use of harmful chemicals and achieving close to zero waste in our production. We are meticulous in our continuous efforts to preserve and protect our environment and community for our future generations.

Working with architects, interior designers and project owners, most of our work is custom designed to meet the needs for new luxury hotels, resorts or high-end residential homes.

Every project we work on is unique. This requires a highly skilled team of designers, carpenters, installers and project managers to deliver on our quality promise and bringing our client's vision to life.

"THE BITTERNESS OF POOR QUALITY REMAINS LONG AFTER THE SWEETNESS OF LOW PRICE IS FORGOTTEN."

Health may not be the first thing many of us consider when deciding on the type of door, floor, ceiling or even kitchen countertop to use for our home.

However, considering that we typically spend about 20 hours per day indoors would make a healthy option seem like an obvious choice. Then, what is a healthy option?

At Thaweephan, we start by considering what is healthy for the environment, our planet and our future generations. We select our natural, renewable timbers from sustainable and responsibly managed forests. We minimise waste and use of toxic chemicals in our production, installation and finishing, and at the end of their life-cycle, our products can be recycled, reused or repurposed - rather than ending up as landfill.

Wood is healthy for our minds and bodies. It has a calming effect by bringing us closer to nature whilst providing an acoustic climate which is less stressful and more comforting. Wood has natural anti-bacterial properties which create a safer and healthier surrounding for you and your family.

Due to its softness and natural flexibility, a wooden floor is ergonomically beneficial and more gentle on our knees and hips, making us less tired.

service excellence

Our customers are our partners and a successful project relies on mutual understanding and clear communication. We take the time to fully understand your vision and requirements in order to match that as closely as possible with our material selection, design and capabilities.

We do not promise things we cannot deliver. Instead, we make sure that all the objectives we have agreed with our customers are achieved – in full.
